CONSTRUCTION JOB

Indiana Limestone Exterior Specified, Marble Interior Planned for New Building: 20 Bids Considered.

IMMEDIATE START URGED BY HARRIS

Great Lakes Construction Co. Given 550 Calendar Days To Complete Work From Foundation.

BY GLADSTONE WILLIAMS. WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.-After nsidering for more than a week the 20-odd bids submitted for work on the ew Atlanta federal building, the easury department today awarded he contract to the Great Lakes Contruction Corporation, of Chicago, hose bid of $1,534,321 was low.

whose bid of $1,534,321 was low.

The contract calls for the use of Indiana limestone instead of Georgia marble, which had been strongly urged upon the department by members of the Georgia congressional group and various business and civic leaders of the state.

In announcing the award, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Ferry K. Heath, in charge of department's end of the federal building program, called Senator W. J. Harris, of Georgia, to explain to him why the department had been unable to use marble. Recause of the saving posaible in the price of limestone over marble, treasury officials, he said, felt they would be subjected to severe criticism if expensive material.

The difference in the cost of the two materials is approximately $150,-000, the same company having presented a low bid based on marble of $1,634,861. As Mr. Heath explained it, the department would be able to use this additional sum now saved in erecting handsome buildings in two or three of the smaller cities of the country.

three of the smaller cities of the country.

Under the terms of the contract awarded today, the Chicago company is given 550 calendar days in which to complete the new building, which will house general activities of the federal government in Atlanta. Work is now being completed on the foundation and tunnel and as soon as this is sufficiently cleared, operations on the main structure will start. Senator Harris has urged that the work be started immediately in order to provide employment for building tradesmen of Atlanta.

Failure of the department to agree on marble for the building comes as a disappointment to members of the Georgia delegation who have interested themselves in the matter. Representative Robert Ramspeck and practically every member of the Georgia group has urged the treasury to award the marble contract. Senator Harris was at the department no later than this morning making a final appeal to Assistant Secretary Heath.

was at the department no later than this morning making a final appeal to Assistant Secretary Heath.

The disappointment is all the more keen because semi-official assurances had been given at the time the bids were opened that Georgia marble would be used. Upon closer examination of the figures, however, officials were confronted with the objections outlined by Mr. Heath.

Three miles out the men abandoned the light car and entered a green-colored car with a Georgia tag that was waiting for them, presumably with a fourth man at the wheel.

In this the gang continued toward Florida. They were sighted near Ellaville, but whether they turned southward or toward Columbus has not been determined.

Some men sitting in front of a store a half block from the Bank of Charing saw the three men run from the bank and drive away. They observed that the car had no tag. These men rushed to the bank and found no one in sight. They opened the vault door and released the cashier and his assistant. An alarm was immediately given to the sheriff's offices. Police and a sheriff's offices at all points within a radius of a hundred miles were notified.

Two-Gun" Smiles Faintly as He Enters Death Chamber at Sing Sing.

OSSINING, N. Y., Jan. 21.—(P)—Francis (Two-Gun) Crowley sat down to death tonight in the electric chair at Sing Sing prison.

A slight smile was the only trace of the braggadoccio which characterized the criminal career of the 20-year-old gunman pursued from his early teens.

"Helle, sarge," he said to a guard as he was led into the yellow-tinted execution chamber to be electrocuted for the slaying of a Long Island policeman.

He looked fleetingly at the 35 spec-ators. Then, as the electrodes were astened to his legs, he said to Robert Elliott, official executioner: "That one on the leg isn't tight

"That one on the leg isn't tight enough.

Then as an electrode was fitted to his head Crowley said: "Tell mother I appreciate everything she did. Thank Mrs. Lawes."

Prison doctors pronounced him dead at 11:07 p. m. He had entered the chamber at 11:02 p. m.

Outside Sing Sing's walls 17-year-old Helen Walsh, Crowley's one-time sweetheart, sat in an automobile. She wept and refused to talk.

Earlier in the day she had been refused permission to visit Crowley. She had obtained a court order in support of her request but was denied admittance by Warden Lawes. The warden said Crowley did not desire to see her and that such a visit "would be making a hippodrome performance" out of the electrocution.

Crowley had been told, they said, that his former sweetheart was keeping company with a policeman.

Men Yearn for Simple, Old-Fashioned Dishes Like Mother Used To Make.

Remember the "pot-licker" and corn pone fad of a year ago? This was the beginning of the interest in old-fashioned dishes indicative of our return to simple living, which is especially fitting for 1932. Sally Saver is inspired by the idea to start a revival for recipes of old favorites. Everybody is invited to send in recipes. From all the fine old ones that Everybody is invited to send in recipes. From all the fine old ones that are sent in, a committee will select six outstanding dishes, which will be published in these columns. Each person whose recipe is published will receive a crisp new one-dollar bill. Men yearn for simple food. Most of us are from small towns or country places and like the old-fashioned things that mother used to make. I wonder how many recall the good old days of egg pie?—"I can see my mother now," said a lover of this fine dish, reciting the more-or-less accurate recipe, "as she put in a layer of rich bread dough, then broke six to ten eggs on top—another layer of dough, another six or eight eggs, and a covering of dough, butter a-plenty—sait and pepper. Then, went the egg pie into the oven to be baked to a turn. It was served sliced, like a cake, showed the layers of eggs between the dough—and my but it tasted good!" Another was in pantalettes, and were sent to be considered to the constant of the cons before Chairman Couzens, of the interstate commerce committee announced he would contest the appointment which goes to his committee.

There were conflicting views tonight on the result of the contest, but both sides indicated confidence. This difference of opinion extended to the democratic attitude, although Brown's friends claimed some support in that party.

Brown, who is general couzsel of the radio commission, is a former republican leader of Ohio and was stated the surprise of an egg pic hito they contend the surprise of an egg pic into the surprise of an egg pic into the over in the 1928 primary eampains in that state. Senstor Couzens is understood to have complained against Brown on the project.

WILL REORGANIZE

Sale of American Gas and Power to Fitkin Forecasts Move.

NEW YORK, Jan. 21 .- (A)-Early drafting of a plan for reorganization of the American Commonwealths Power Corporation was forecast today as a result of the sale by receivers of that company of a controlling interest in the American Gas and Power Company to the Fitkin interests.

Announcement of the sale was made

Announcement of the sale was made yesterday by the receivers, who are John K. Garrigues. Herbert W. Briggs and Herbert L. Nichols. Proceeds were used to pay a $3,000,000 note of the American Commonwealths Power Corporation, which was held by the United States & International Securities Corporation, a Dillon, Read & Co. investment trust. This payment eliminates the remaining indebtedness of American Commonwealths to the investment trust company.

As a result of the transaction, A. E. Fitkin, a leading public utility operator whose interests extend throughout the United States, obtains control of the $70,000,000 American Gas and Power Company. This company owns properties serving Birmingham, Jacksonville, St. Augustine, Savannah and other important cities. Underlying companies in which it holds dominating stock interests include the Jacksonville Gas Company, the Savannah Gas Company, the Savannah Gas Company, the Savannah Gas Company, the Rirmingham Gas Company, and the Industrial Gas Corporation of Birmingham.

A few years ago the Fitkin interests were the dominating force in a group of public utility enterprises which covered a wide territory in operations.

The former major Fitkin holding company was the National Public Service Corporation, which controlled a large number of operating companies in the Atlantic seaboard territory. Another group controlled properties in middlewestern states and a third controlled properties in middlewestern states and a third controlled properties on the Pacific coast.

All of these groupings passed to other control, the National Public Service Corporation going to the Insull interests and the Pacific coast properties to the Standard Oil Company of California.

Several of the operating and underlying holding companies making up the present National Public Service Corporation were a part of the organization when it was under Fitkin controll. MERITA BAKED-IN FLAVOR BREAD HAS A FINER FLAVOR AND TEXTURE, BECAUSE THE FLAVOR IS BAKED IN BY THE PERFECTED NEW MERITA METHOD

HERE is nothing mysterious about Merita's greatest achievement-the new Baked-in Flavor Bread.

It's all really simple, as most great discoveries are. It's easy to understand.

When you used to bake bread in your own tidy kitchen, or when mother baked it during your childhood days, you thought that nothing in the world could be more appetizing than the flavorful aroma that came from bread in the oven. And you wished that "bread could taste as good as it smells when it's baking."

Merita Baked-in Flavor Bread tastes just that good, because the FLAVOR IS SAVED -BAKED IN, NOT OUT. Merita bakers, by their startling new baking discovery, capture the delectable aroma of "baking day in the kitchen" and the elusive flavor that baked out and escaped and retain them in the loaf you buy.

Naturally, Merita Baked-in Flavor Bread is richer in food value, in nutrition, because not only BAKED-IN FLAVOR flavor but other vital elements escape from ordinary loaves baked in the ordinary way.

Get a Merita Baked-in Flavor loaf from your grocer today. Push back the modern transparent wrapper. Select a smooth, silky-textured, golden crusted slice. Bite through the tender crust into the delicious crumb. Taste for yourself and see how much more flavor is SAVED.

Once you make this thrilling taste test, Merita will go to the top of your shopping list of good things to eat.

SLICED BREAD SILL What Baked-in Flavor means

see the microscope has revealed the large irregular bubbles that allow the flavor to escape and bake out. Much of the flavorful goodness of ordinary bread is thus baked away and the texture of the bread is left coarse and full of holes.

TREASURE IN ATTICS.

A Harvard professor recently wrote that the world needs the Jews because the world needs a spiritual awakening. That has always been the view of those of us Christians who sympathized with Zionism. We wanted to see the Jew work out his own civilization, within walls of his own, certain as we were, and therein upheld by prophecy, that the time will come again, as it came in the past, that all the world will be blessed in Israel.

Most encouraging therefore is the news that Emanuel Neumann has been able to form a pro-Palestine committee in America, wherein, among oth-

While Money Talks, Conscience Seldom Is So Rude as To Interrupt -By Robert Quillen-

The beginning of all progress, as you know, is discontent.

The ability to feel shame is one of Nature's greatest gifts to man, for it is shame that prompts him to overcome his weaknesses and correct his faults.

No man can aspire to higher things while content as he is. So long as he has grace to feel ashamed, he may be salvaged from the very gutter; when the capacity for shame is gone, all hope of reformation is

It often happens that the ability to feel shame is lost by reason of prosperity. As a man considers himself at peace with God because he is at peace with himself, so he will be pleased with himself because he is pleased with his good fortune.

He no longer sees himself as he is, for his vision is fixed on his pocketbook. No matter what he does, he still feels respectable, for he attributes to his own merit the personal and public respect won by his purse. Whatever its virtues may be, prosperity is not an aid to intro-

HOLLYWOOD IN PERSON

BY MOLLIE MERRICK.

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Jan. 21.—And now Paramount has discovered that children aren't going to the pictures that were made for them at all. "Skippy" and "Sooky" were adult fare in the final analysis. The kids gave them the raspberry, quite frankly.

So no more "kiddie" films for the present. The pictures above-named were made with the express intention of getting little children into the theater. But Jesse Lasky, father of a lad of nine years, has made the announcement that he greatly doubts if there are any real children left in the world anyway.

PROHI REFERENDA

when we printed one or two of these items here it did not occur to us that wheat germ was not a familiar commodity. A lot of readers wrote in to inquire what wheat germ is and where they could get it. Then we recalled that one or two of our correspondents had mentioned small, old-fashioned grist mills in out of the way places where they purchased wheat germ. But as we keep no files or memoranda of these letters the addresses had alipped our mind. We fell back on the practical expedient of suggesting that persons desiring to try the effect of wheat germ in their diet take a run out in the country and buy a peck or a bushel of wheat from some farmer. If that seemed just too absurd, then they might sneak into the local feed store or seed store right in the city and casually ask the clerk for a couple of pounds of wheat, pretending it was to feed some pigeons or something. You know it is not yet safe to let an ordinary wheat farmer, or a seed or feed storekeeper, or a miller know you're going to est the wheat yourself. Coach Alexander is not only one of the better football coaches, but he is an expert athletic director as well. He has given Tech a groat athletic plant and, despite a season of curtailed minor sports, is making much progress in developing those activities.

Play in the annual G. I. A. A. basketball tournament will start Thursday afternoon, February 25. and continue through Saturday night on the Savannah, Ga., auditorium court, it was learned here Thursday.

Dates were tentatively set for February 18, 19 and 20, but inability to secure the Savannah auditorium on those days necessitated the change to the following week.

Strong opposition was voiced during a meeting at the Y. M. C. A. some time ago to selection of the last week in February, because of the opening of the Southern conference tournament here, but Savannah is sponsoring the event, and no other dates are available at present.

Tech High, Boys' High and Georgia Military Academy will represent Athata at the tourney. Other entries include Monroe Aggies, Gordon Institute, of Barnesville; Lanier High, of Macon; Savannah High, and Benedictine, of Savannah High, and Riverside Military Academy, of Hollywood, Fla.

The tournament is being sponsored by the Savannah Chamber of Commerce, the Savannah Junior Chamber, the President's Council and the Savannah Tourist and Convention Bureau, in co-operation with Savannah High school and Benedictine College.

Whife Agburn has not played any regulation games since winning from the Yellow Jackets January 12, Mc-Allister has issued five lengthy scrimmages, which made the players wish that their schedule called for games between January 12 and 22.

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—(P)—If he were 21 again and faced with the choice of a career, Gene Tunney would follow his original course and pick boxing, Re declared yesterday.

Since his retirement as heavyweight champion of the world, Tunney has insisted that when the time came for his autobiography to be prepared, he would write it himself. He has die tated 85,000 words for this purpose and Collier's Weekly will publish his story.

"Fortunately or unfortunately, according to how you look at it," he said today, "every heavyweight champion inherits biographers.

"There have been at least four biographies written about me. They were so inaccurate from the beginning to end that to me they were more amusing than historfeal.

"I have come to the conclusion that since the public is sufficiently interested in its puglistic champions to lar, was large and powerful. His face was set in classic mold.

He looked a little lonesome and alone, did Jim Londos, the world's heavyyweight wrestling champion, as he stood in the hotel lobby and watched the people come and go.

In the past year he had wrestled in 136 matches, had not lost a fall in any one of them, and had put away something close to a quarter of a million dollars. His popularity was immense. He had, it seemed, everything.

And yet I found him just as he looked. What about the story that you were to get mar-

"Why, I'm married. I've been married for years." "That's an old gag, Jim. You used it on me three years ago. You're married to wrestling."

"Yes," he said, "to wrestling. And what a wife. But she's the only wife I can have. I can't commit bigamy. There's a law against it. How could I be married and travel on the road all the time?

"What was it Kipling wrote? White hands clutch at the bridle reins." Well, I'm married. And until I get rid of this wife I can't have another."

THE OTHER FIELD IS GREENER.

I was thinking of the young Greek who had come to this country with a great body and a great ambition. And here he was, wealthy, a champion, popular, at the top of his profession.

Some of my thoughts must have been apparent to him.

"You like to sit down and read and smoke a cigaret or cigar. So do it. But I can't. I've got to wrestle and live in hotels and ride trains.

at the Jungle hotel. Regards to my friends in St. Petersburg. Babe Ruth."

If Ruth settles his salary troubles with the Yankees in St. Petersburg., it will mark a duplication of the 1929 contract-signing episode, when he and Colonel Ruppert kept a score of sports writers on edge for three weeks as they parried for terms through the press, without once meeting in a personal interview.

On the occasion of their first meeting it took the Babe and Colonel Ruppert about five minutes to settle the amount of the contract which called for-a yearly stipend of $80,000 for two seasons' play, which incidentally is the largest salary ever made by a baseball player and which the Yankee home-run hitter would like to see written into his 1932 contract.

Colonel Ruppert has stated emphatically that Ruth will not receive $80,-000 for a single year's work again. The Babe has countered with a demand for a two-year contract at $70,000 or one more year at $80,000. He points to his brilliant play in 1931, when he enjoyed one of his best seasons, as the chief reason why his salary should not be cut.

Ruth recently returned unsigned the regular contract mailed to him by the Yankee management, calling for a $70,000 salary for one year.

NEW MANAGER HOPES TO FIND FOUR HURLERS

Outfield Presents No Worry; Red Will Play If Needed.

By Jimmy Jones.

MONROE, Ga., Jan. 21.—There are a number of things that "Red" Barron doesn't know about the Atlanta baseball club at the moment, but the fiery old sorrel-top of the Georgia Tech football team is quite positive on a few of the fundamental points that deal with his new manager's job.

The Crackers of 1932 will be a hustling, chance-taking ball club at all-times, says David Irenus Barron.

There will be plenty of spectacular and heads-up base running and plenty of digging for that extra run.

All hands must stay in condition if they want to stay on his baseball team.

He hopes to find four winning pitchers who can go-in there and stand the gaff over the nine-inning route.

stand the gaff over the nine-inning route.

He would like to develop two good relief pitchers to help them carry the burden.

The outfield, as it stands, looks adequate and he figures. Johnny O'Connell will develop into a good first-string receiver.

INFIELD WORRY.

The infield is his chief worry but he is anxious to develop a good strong combination around second base.

He will be a playing manager when the occasion demands and if the public demands.

"About all I know about the team right now is what I can tell by looking at the roster and my experience with the players on it," declared Barron.

MacFarlane's Putting Features Thursday Play in Miami Tourney.

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 21.—(P)—Willie MaeFarlane one-putted nine out of the first ten greens today to go into the finals of a professional four-ball match here as the Tuckahoe (N. Y.) player and Charles Pairman, Kokomo. Ind., defeated Wild Bill Mehlhorn, New York city, and Walter Bourne, Princeton, N. J., 1 up in a 21-hole match.

MacFarlane and Pairman will play the 36-hole finals tomorrow with Eddie Williams, Cleveland, and Earl Howell, Miami. The latter pair upset Charles McAllister, Queens Valley, N. Y., and Jack Hagen, Salisbury, N. Y., favorites to win the tournament, by the comfortable margin of 5 up and 4 to play.

Willie's putter stole the spotlight of the tournament from the McAllister when the players on it," declared Barron.

"That outfield can hit and I figure we ought to get some smart pitching from veterans like Blethen, Hearn, Messenger and Howard, and that I can find a sure-fire winner and two relief men out of the rest."

PRAISES CARLYLE.

Barron was particularly high in pralse of Roy Carlyle. He thinks the Norcross slugger will earn hit smoney with the runs he will drive in with his big hat. Punch is what the club needs, he figures.

We found the man who has been designated to bring order out of chaos at Spiller field up here in his native red hills today—the same hills from which he and two of his brothers came to make names for the family in football. There was "Red," happy among the schoolboys he has coached and taught for eight years, and with his wife and seven-year-old daughter, Alice, Irene.

The new Atlanta manager had just finished lecturing to his history class when he was approached for an inverse about the relief men out of the rest."

"LITTLE PITCHERS."

His boys gathered about him on the lawn. "Red," with flushed face and enthusiastic voice, discussed the proposition that faced him.

Nearby stood a white-haired educator, Dr. J. Henry Walker. who taught "Red" Barron back when he was a schoolboy himself at Monroe A. & M. "Red" finished there in 1918, and Dr. Walker said he was a model student.

Dr. Walker is still president of Monroe A. & M., and it was a happy moment for him when he could congratulate his old pupil on his new position.

The easiest task that was ever set the ranking committee of the U.S. L. T. A. was the picking of premier players for 1931 in both the men's and women's divisions,

Not even when Big Bill Tilden was in the heyday of his rule, 1920 to 1925, did the records show him any more the pace-setter for an entire campaign than the 1931 records establish young Ellsworth Vines Jr., of California.

Successful on both clay and grass, harvester in entirely new fashion of the storied Seabright, Longwood, Newport and such kindred eastern classics, Vines strode the net world like a colossus. He has jumped up from No. 8 in 1930 to the premier position for the last year. And if tennis were like golf the committee might have hesitated about giving him tennis were like golf the committee maplus ranking.

Mrs. Helen Wills Moody's swath through the women's fields was not so wide, but it was clipped even more neatly. Her domination is more clearly established in scores, if not in sheer bulk of titles. Her match on the courts is not even remotely in sight, here or abroad, though, in general, competition in the women's ranks has been keen despite the foregone conclusion in the national.

Minor Squawks.

Minor peeves will be hurled because of the allotment of the subordinate places in the ranking, but there has been so much jockeying among the younger players like Frank Shields, Johnny Doeg, Sidney Wood and Wilmer Allison, that no committee could please every one with his place on the ladder.

please every one with his place on the ladder.

Considering his wealth of experience, his excellent form and his enthusiasm for the game, Wood's failure to advance in 1931 was the outstanding development. After winning at Wimbledon and sharing the Davis cup burden, he was eclipsed on the home courts. Similarly, the lowering of Doeg's rating, especially with respect to Shields, whom Doeg beat in the all-comers, will be disputed. With all Doeg's dynamic service and spectacular volleying, Shields is believed to be a better tournament prospect, but the

While there doesn't appear to be

For a long time the Giants' slugger, Bill Terry, was chained to the bench, with nothing to do but watch long George Kelly display his sound first base style. Terry strained at the leash. He even went so far as to ask McGraw if he couldn't take a turn in the outfield.

"You might get hit on the head with a fly bell," was McGraw's unenthusiastic response.

So time went on, and the youngster who was to give the New York club its challenge for National league batting honors kept watching.

RENEWAL.

Marquette University football sched-ule includes a game with Wisconsin at Madison, October 1, the first time the teams have met since 1919:

LIVE FOR I AM COMING.

There is something of the philosopher about the champion.

He has had little education and yet he is a prolific reader.
"I read the other day," he said, "the story of how Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes stepped down from the supreme bench at the age of 91.

"Someone asked him why he was quitting and he said something that I think is the finest thing I ever heard. He said, I heard Death talking to me and Death said, "Live for I am

"That's what I want to do-live. Death's coming. You know too many of us live as if we were going to live forever. We forget that Death is coming to us. And so we lay up money and work and do not see the pretty girls go by or hear the happy voices of friends together. We don't see flowers except from our train windows, our office windows or in florists' shops. We forget that we aren't going to live forever. 'Live for I am coming.' I like that."

Somewhere in the forbears of this champion I am sure there just have been one of the great philosophers of ancient Greece.

AND EDUCATION NEXT.

In a couple or three more years Jim Londos will be worth two or three million, barring ill luck. And then he wants to settle down, not in some home with a wife.

He wants a university education. Four years in some college is his ambition. He is 34 years old now. When he is about 36 or 37 he wants to get that education. Economics. History. And so on.

"Yes," he said, "I want to try and live. But it is almost too late. I should have started long ago. But I had to sacrifice everything I wanted to get this. And now I can't even go to a show or attend a party. I've got to catch a train. If I am not wrestling then I must get up early and take to the road and run 5 or 10 miles. Yes, I think if I had it do do over I would do something else."

ONE THINKS OF TUNNEY.

One thinks of Gene Tunney in connection with Londos' commentary on the life of a champion. Something of the same idea, although not nearly so well expressed, was had by James Tunney wanted to live. Wanted to write. Wanted to travel and make good friends. He made enough in a few fights to get what Londor must go years to get. Tunney was the exception.

Last year Tunney made $50,000 with his writings. And he didn't use a "ghost." Which is pretty fair, I think, for a struggling young author. Who, of course, expects to do better.

Tunney's Grimaces Soothe Infant Son

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—(UP)—In Holy Cross church today a baby was being christened. The father, a stalwart, ruddy-faced young fellow, stood close by the child's head.

Suddenly, and apparently through instinct, he knew that the baby was getting ready for a long, loud cry. So he leaned over and started making faces. He blinked his eyes, contorted his mouth, wiggled his nose. The baby smiled and the wail was forestalled.

The name given the infant was Gene Lauder Tunney. The face-maker was the former heavyweight champion of the world. The godfather was Bernard Gimbel and the christener Father Francis P. Duffy.

The state contends that sometime Saturday night or Sunday morning Mrs. Judd cut up the body of Miss Samuelson so that she could distribute the weight of the two bodies and thus ship them as regular baggage.

For 13 years I was engaged to a woman whom I love didn't seem woman in the serve had and din't seem woman in the and marry the one one to whom I am engaged? I am all the took the o

ANSWER:

I can think of nothing that would be more galling to a woman's pride than to find out that a man had married her out of pity. There would be no possible chance for that galling knowledge to escape the consciousness of the older woman. Women are sometimes able to act a part in love and marriage, a part they do not feel, but a man is constitutionally unable to wear a mask where his heart is involved. The sharp fracture of the engagement would be a small pain compared to the dull and incessant ache of a heart bound tightly to another in a mocking marriage. How could any woman look across the table at a man who was carrying in his mind the image of another whom he loved, without wishing she were dead? She couldn't. As for the suicide threat, if she actually contemplated suicide she would most likely guard that secret.

Certainly you owe the fiancee a frank and full confession of the facts in the case. It is not honorable for a man to engage himself to one woman, even though she was the animating spirit in the arrangement, and then carry on a side affair with another woman. The sooner you nerve yourself to the task the better it will be for all parties concerned. And then out of respect to her pride you should wait a decent time before marrying the other woman. After all, you do owe the older woman a debt of gratitude for the solace she gave you, for the love she lavished on you, and for the new hope she set if your sky.

No man can confer a favor upon a woman by marrying her when he loves another. No man can "stifle the promptings of his heart" toward one woman and be, at the same time, a proper husband to another. He would come to loathe her for cheating him of the thing he desired and he couldn't hide that loathing to save his life. So, leaving your own selfish pleasure out of the question, you have no right to marry a woman you do not love, because in the marriage you would lose for her the one thing that would be a precious possession to you both as long as you live; your feeling of mutual respect and admiration.

It is not your name that the older woman wants. She wants your love. She doesn't possess it. She cannot win it. She will be much better off unmarried and much happier (after that fact is established in her mind) when you are married to the one you do love. CAROLINE CHATFIELD.

Culbertson on Contract

Squeeze Them and Win

BY ELY CULBERTSON.

World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

Squeeze plays are a utilization of the time factor in Bridge. Often they are the only means by which a contract can be made. Thus a knowledge of squeeze plays and situations, which may result in the forcing of the discard of winning cards by opponents, is an essential part of the equipment of a good Bridge player.

When South led the final trump, the situation was thus:

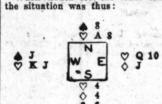

is an essential part of the equipment of a good Bridge player.

The thrill of compelling an opponent to discard an apparently winning card is one of the greatest that comes in the play of a game. The hand below, played by Sam Fry Jr., of New York in a Duplicate game, illustrates a triple squeeze, through which both opponents were forced to discard and the Declarer enabled to take all the tricks—a contract which he had reached through rather amhe had reached through rather ambitious bidding.

Q 4 3 2 A Q 10 6 5 The contract was seven clubs. When the Dummy went down South could count 12 tricks in top cards and decided to rely upon an even break in either spades or diamonds to furnish the 13th trick, or, failing that, utilize the time factor; otherwise the squeeze play. This seemed to him more likely to succeed than the obvious policy of trumping Dummy's losing hearts as, after all, he must depend for his success upon securing an additional trick in spades or diamonds. Winning Upon the lead of the trump West was compelled to retain the Knave of spades as otherwise Dummy's 8 would be high. The spade in Dummy be high. The spade in Dummy had thus served its purpose and was then discarded, East was helpless, knowing that if he discarded a heart both of Dummy's hearts would be good. He discarded his last diamond and the Declarer then led the 4 of diamonds for the 12th trick, the Ace of hearts making the 13th.

What the Markets Did.

BY JOHN L. COOLEY.

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—(P)—A diffident stock market today failed to reach a decision on trend. The closing was irregular.

Although during most of the session prices looked a little stronger, there was a sell-off toward the close and the average had a fractional decline.

Volume was around recent low levels at 1,237,768 shares.

Trading seemed to be under professional auspices. Operators in the rail group were reluctant to leave the carriers idle and bid them up 1 to 3 points. Gains in the rail shares tapered off eventually and a few finished with small losses.

United States Steel touched a new high for 1932, selling a point higher at the best but losing virtually all lits gain.

american Tobacco shares were banking on the hope of an extra divi-dend. Other issues in the group quiet-ed down. General Electric and Gen-eral Motors sagged. American Tele-phone crossed 122 before slipping

As had been foreshadowed by the money markets and government bonds; the New York Reserve bank retained the 3 1-2 per cent rediscount rate.

Rumor said the Bank of Englandwas rapidly repaying its credit at the reserve.

The weekly statement of the reserve system showed that no important changes had taken place despite the talk of mild inflation.

Foreign Markets

LONDON—Gilt-edged securities dropped with other British stocks when no change was announced in the bank rate. Argantine rails advanced 1 to 2, points on favorable trop reports, while American issues were reactionary. The market finished uncertain.

PARIS—The bourse opened firm and active, with some good advances. Selling in Brussels prompted a reaction later but losses in most cases were recovered.

BERLIN-Boerse closed.

FENNER, BEANE & UNGERTIDER.

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—The cotton market advanced to net gains of 5 to 7 points by early afternoon but later lost part of the improvement, with final prices 2 to 3 points above the previous close. Trade in terest bought in considerable volume in foremoon, Liverpool was on buying aide and Wall Street and other outside interests increased their participation in operations for rise, In this course, they were doubless influenced by the good tone of securities by the announcement that the Reconstruction Finance Corporation bill had passed the conference stage and by, disclosure that sales of gray goods had exceeded production in past fortnight by a much wider margin than previously estimated. We see no reason to change our policy of advising purchases around present levels or on any moderate setback as we continue to believe the line of least resistance is upward.

levels for commitments not already established.

COURTS & CO.

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—Trading was a shade more active and prices were well maintained Thursday. This is in response to the more favorable domestic news in the agreement on the reconstruction bill and the prospects of its early effective operation, also the agreement arrived at for meeting the immediate financial necessities of New York city had a favorable influence. The state of Illinois has passed a measure to straighten out the tax muddle in Chicago and this is also a step in the right direction. On the other hand, conditions abroad seem to have come to a deadlock. France and Germany are so far apart in their views on reparations that England has found it impossible to propose any constructive program and it looks as if the Lausanne conference would have to be abandoned. On the whole, however, the progress made at home has produced a more confident and a cheerful sentiment and this is a welcome change from the pessimism of recent months.

LIVINGSTON & CO.

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—Most of the day in stocks was given over to slowly advancing prices with enough realising developing in the last half hour to result in an irregular closing. Raids were still the leaders, although United States Steel at one time hit a new high for the recovery at 46% and then lost a point of this gain near the close.

Reports from the floor indicated that professional operators today with the possible exception of several stocks were more willing to buy on dips than previously. Some of them were supposed to have asid that while they knew no reason for strength in stocks, they also saw no reason for houck the market. Small profits look big these days, though, and there was undoubtedly considerable realizing in the last half hour.

RUBBARD BROTHERS CO.

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—Cotton fluctuated within a narrow range during the whole session, comparatively little business being put through. Offerings from the south were quite restricted and at the same time the fact that there was no trade demand except for foreign demand on the opening and on the close. The trade were quite uneasy regarding the provision in the reconstruction act which provides for a $50,000,0000 loan to farmers. This uneasiness was—not due to any desire that farming interests should not be assisted where necesary but it—was due to a feeling that in face of the very large overproduction last year, it might induce planting again over a large acreage which would be fatal in face of the combined carried over supply from last year and the year before. If trade demand develops the market will gradually move higher until it again meets freer offerings from the south. On the other hand, there is such a lack of speculation that on any offerings from the south together with a withdrawal by the trade, the market would easily redet.

LIVINGSTON & CO.

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—Today's market was dull and devoid of feature of interest. Trading moved quiet with the tone steady during the forenon on firm cables and moderate foreign and domestic trade buying, but during the afternoon prices eased under pressure of scattered southern and local selling, final prices showing a small net gain for the day. Trading in the current January, options will expire at noon tomorrow.

Liverpool and Ruenos Aires were relatively weak, while Winnipeg was more inclined to follow us in ignoring the indifference shown abroad. A strong stock market was also a stimulant to 'wheat buying but there appeared to be ample offerings on the bulges to act as a check. An increase of 75,000,000 bushels in Australia was the outstanding feature and suggests unusually heavy farm marketing in that country, no doubt atimulated by the government bountry. BY JOHN P. BOUGHAN.
CHICAGO, Jan. 21:—(R)—Grains averaged higher today. Assertions increased that a commodity pool was buying, but advances were finally wiped out owing to heavy selling on the bulges.

Failure of gains to hold appeared to be due largely to wheat future delivery sales from sources affiliated with the federal farm board. On the other hand, stimulus to buyers was word from Washington that funds from the reconstruction finance corporation were expected to be available within a fortnight, and that the corporation could finance United States export acceptances over a long period, whereas at present the federal reserve banks would discount acceptances for only 90 days. eral reserve banks would discount acceptances for only 90 days.

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—(P)—Secondary rail liens again led a modest upward movement in the bond market today, and quiet strength was manifested in various sections of the list. The majority of the United States government bonds established alight gains. Losses on Liberty 3 1-2s and treasury 4s were fractional. Included among the advancing carrier loans were some of those of Baltimore & Ohio, Central of Georgia, Chesapeake & Ohio, Missouri Pacific, Nickel Plate, Illinois Central. Pennsylvania, Southern Railway, Texas & Pacific and Wabash. There was a mixed trend in foreign obligations. Highlights of Wall Street

BY CHARLES W. STORM, Editor, the News Service of Wall Street.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

FERTILIZERS—A further decrease in sales is indicated for the current year, according to a survey of Chemical and Metallurgical Engineering. Markets are suffering more severely than most others from the depression. The 7,000,000-ton fertilizer market of 1920-30 suffered a decline of 10 per cent during the tertilizer year closing in 1931, and a composite of experienced estimates indicates that not more than 4,500,000 tons can be expected to find sales during the coming year, says the publication.

SYRINGFIELD, Mass., Jan. 21 (Pp.—P. D. Houston, of Nashvillication.

STEEL—Increased demand for flat rolled products for the automobile in-dustry and other consumers has con-tributed to the recent uplift in opera-tions in the larger steel producing centers.

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—(P)—Free-port Texas Company today reduced the annual dividend basis to $2 from $3 by declaring a quarterly payment of 50 cents payable March 1 to stock of record February 15.

TRADING ON CURB

BY CLAUDE A. JAGGER.

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—(P)—The curb market was undecided as to its course today, and price changes were largely mixed and marrow in the principal issues.

Trading remained dull with the day's turnover of 220,000 shares falling about 20,000 short of yesterday's.

Electric Bond and Share tried to advance for a time, but reacted to close off 1.4 at 12.1-8. American Gas and Electric closed up a fraction. United Light and Power convertible preferred gained a couple of points, but the common was unchanged.

In the bond section of the curb, news that the receivers for American Commonwealths Power had sold the American Gas and Power bonds, the 5s closing at 36, up 5 1-2:

Coal issues were firm. In the oils, Gulf gained about a point, while Humble lost 1 1-2.

BEN DAVIS PLANNING TO RELINQUISH POST

Ben J. Davis, whose post as secretary of the republican state committee provoked a mild row in the party this week, will relinquish the job at the next state convention and will not make any fight on Wilson Williams, of Woodbury, or any one else.

"I have been secretary for 14 years," Davis said Thursday, "and that's long enough—especially when you get no pay. I shall not be a candidate for re-election but do not intend to oppose any one."

Davis said that he was still working for the republican national committee.

DAMAGE ACTION FILED DAY AFTER GIRL DIES

Suit for $25,000 damages was filed Thursday by counsel for the father of Mattie Lavelle Bowen, 8, of 289 North Highland avenue, N. E., who was killed Wednesday afternoon in front of her home when she was struck by an automobile driven by S. A. Segars. Segars and the Ragadale Motor Company were named as defendants by the child's father, O. C. Bowen.

The Bowens had recently come to Atlanta from Temple, Ga., and had been living on Highland avenue only a few days when the accident occurred. Segars reported to police that the child darted into the path of his machine before he could avoid striking her. He was released in bond of $1,000 which he was permitted to sign.

Wall Street.

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—Strength of railroad shares again furnished the bright spot today in a firm and quiet stock market.

Higher prices for the common carriers imparted a better undertone to the industrial department led by Steel common, which reached a new high figure for the current recovery.

Reports emanating from the railroad conference at Chicago continued to furnish the basis for activity in transportation shares. Prices of rails were higher and active while the conference was in session, but eased off when announcement of an adjournment of the meeting was made.

Postponement of the Lausanne conference on reparations was seemingly ignored. The Street was gratified with the progress being made towards the creation of the Reconstruction of Finance Corporation, which is expected to be a fact by the end of this week, and in operation early next week.

CONFIDENCE IN STEEL.

Steel common at the meeting of directors scheduled for Tuesday is growing and would seem to be reflected in the steady strength and upward movement in the price of the stock.

The general feeling is that declaration of the regular Steel common dividend would contribute substantially to a continuation of the forward movement of the market, in that it would be accepted as an indication of confidence in the future on the part of the directors.

MARKET'S HIGH SPOTS.

Activity and strength in United Aircraft furnished one of the high spots of the day's business. The larger dealings were based on expectation that earnings for the fourth quarter of last year would make a favorable showing with those for the same period of 1930.

More life was shown by Pennsylvania railroad stock, the buying of which was reported to be for the count of interests close to the company. The feeling is that the Pennsylvania dividend of $2 a share annually will be maintained should the reduction in wages.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 21.—(P)—
John M. Hemphill, democratic gubernatorial nominee in 1930, has exhorted his-party to a vigorous advocacy of its application to the prohibition question, lest the republicans adopt it "and ride to glory."

As an instance he pointed to the possibility of Representative James M. Beck, a leader of the house wet bloc, winning the republican senatorial nomination and opposing a democrat in November on what Hemphill called Beck's "platform of states rights."

don, the question arose as to the administration of oples and the fate of the priests. Then it was that Ja-don turned to Tarzan, saying: "Let the Dor-ul-Otho tell us what is best." which is pleasing in the eyes of god," replied Tar-zan. "You have been taught that Jad-Ben-Otho is cruel, that he loves blood and suffering. It is false. Give now the temples to the women that they may be administered in kindness, charity, and love."

"Liberate the victims intended for the sacrifice. Bring offerings, instead, that your people like; and place them upon the altars. Then your god will bless them and they shall be distributed by the priestesses among those who need them most." Weary of the avarice and cruelty of their masked priests, Tarzan's command pleased the people mightily... That night a great feast was spread in the banquet hall and a pact was signed between Ja-don and Om-at that would ever make the two tribes friends and allies. BUSINESS SERVICE

The following day O-lo-a, Pan-at-lee and the wom-en of Ja-don's family arrived at the palace at A-lur, and in the great throne room Ta-den and O-lo-a were wed; and Om-at to Pan-at-lee. For a week Tarsan and Jane and Korak remained as guests of Ja-don, the king, as did Om-st and his black warriors. Then the ape-man announced he would depart from Pal-ul-don. His hosts were a bit hazy in their minds as to where was the home of these celestial visitors, but no questionings arose as Tarzan-jad-guru prepared to go.

And so, with a great escort, Jane and Tarzan and Korak wound out of the city and disappeared in the nearby forest. In the minds of many were doubts as to how Tarzan would cross the hideous morass surrounding Pal-ul-don, but the ape-man was not worried. In his own mind there lurked an easy solution of the passage but it depended wholly upon chance. Lots for Sale

ACRE TRACTS $100

I HAVE completely sold out my subdivision of 270 lots in Ben Hill Highlands. This property was so good and the price and terms so easy that the work was completed in three weeks. Now I have added an acreage tract to this subdivision. It is called the acreage section of Ben Hill Highlands. It faces on the Busser road, the Nisky Lake road, Wallace Drive and Carroll avenue. There are just 38 of the tracts. They are all 100 feet front and run back from 350 to 450 feet. They run from five-sixths of an acre to one and one-half acres. Some of the tracts are covered with beautiful trees. All of them are wonderful land-for cultivation. One has a clear spring. Another, 165 feet front, has spring branch the whole distance of 400 feet along-side. It is perfect for chickens, hogs, cows, fruit and vegetables. Land slopes to rear. It was my intention to show this land next Sunday and close it out Monday, but the weather is so ideal that I have decided to take about two hours' time and close it out today and tomorrow instead. The price of these tracts is only 375 to $150 each. You pay $10 cash per tract and $10 monthly without interest. You have been wanting to get a place out somewhere where you can make a living at home, have lights, phone and other conveniences and a good school and churches; now is your opportunity. But if you want to "get in" on this you must move swiftly. I sold three of them yesterday to people just driving through. To reach the property, go Campbellton road through Ben Hill turn south at Nisky Lake road. You will find owner at the property just over the hill on Nisky Lake road. ACRE TRACTS $100

"Be very quiet; mamma's got a cold," Puck said at the door, as she pushed him inside.

When Martin found himself in the Bojan's bedroom he was a little afraid, although he was no coward. He felt dimly that he was surrounded and beset by far too many women this summer. He was in love with May. She filled him to the brim with love and tenderness, and with desire and passion. He often had the feeling that an explosion threatened him, that he would be rent from top to bottom, that his strength was strained to that an explosion threatened him, that he would be rent from top to bottom, that his strength was strained to breaking point. "It's all too much for me," he groaned sometimes, meaning the catastrophe that threatened his too-aroused feelings. May, bracing and vital as she was, had all she could do to keep him calmed down. But the other women whom the summer days brought to Frauensee did their utmost to disquiet and upset poor Martin Heil.

The day began with the humpbacked Resi, who brought him milk warm from the cow before he had left his Procrustean bed. Her eager zeal and devotion were at once ludicrous and pathetic. Next there was Frau Birndl gazing with all her eyes at Martin in his bathing costume, at his muscles and the line of his neck, which was indeed admirable. She stood for hours together in the blazing sun, leaning on the railing of the gangway. As for the adoring looks and flicker with them. Even the deafabout him, he could scarcely keep count of them all; from early morning the air seemed to shimmer and flicker with them. Even the deafand-dumb girl had turned up—Stefanie von Brinckmann was her name—to take lessons in swimming; and with great patience and kindliness he gave them to her laborfously in dumb show. Vesi Schwoisshackel too, pretty as a picture with her blue eyes beneath a crown of plaited black hair, had most emphatic ways of showing her regard. the four accused. Winn yesterday asked dismissal of the charge on the target and that the prosecution was delaying the case and thus depriving the four of their constitutional rights to a speedy trial.

Winn said Mrs. Fortescue, who with the three accused men is being held in custody of naval officers, had shown improvement after a long period of nervousness but was worried about the condition of her husband, ill in New York.

The territorial legislature continued work on its bill to reorganize Honolulu's severely criticized police department and other measures designed to clean up island law enforcement.

An intensive hunt for the automobile of Takeo Harimoto, Mrs. Okazaki's escort, was begun. The woman, whose husband had been ill for some time, said her assailant had asked her address and had driven her home after the attack.

Harimoto said the gunman had expressed sorrow for striking him on the head and had bandaged the wound made by the blow from the revolver. Harimoto said the man then had tied him to a railroad track near the attack scene.
